HEX and RGB values come from the approved logo files and the approved website design. Printed colours can look slightly different from a screen, so always check a printed proof before a large print run.

02 How much of each colour

Approximate share of each colour in the approved website design.

- Light first. Every page starts on Soft White or White.
- Burgundy in blocks. Use it for strong blocks: category cards, the enquiry banner, the footer, buttons and small accents. Inner pages use a burgundy banner and footer only.
- One burgundy per area. Do not mix many burgundy shades inside one block.
- Grey is the helper. Metal Grey for lines, icons and captions. It never replaces burgundy as the main colour.

Metal Grey #737171 on Soft White	4.5	Minimum pass	Captions, not long text
White on WhatsApp Green #0F7B6C	5.2	Good	WhatsApp button
Silver Grey #909090 on Soft White	3.0	Too low	Never for text; decoration only
Rose #C35A61 on Night Burgundy	4.3	Large text only	Big headings on very dark panels

05 Logo on colour

Choose the logo by background. Exact files are listed in the Brand Folder Guide (document 01).

- Soft White, White, light greys: colour logo.
- Alok Burgundy: white logo. The colour logo disappears here.
- Black or dark photos: bright logo for dark backgrounds.
- Any other colour: do not place the logo on it. Use a white panel.

06 Do and don't

Do	Don't
Start every layout on Soft White or White	Fill a whole page with burgundy
Use burgundy for buttons, banners and key blocks	Use many burgundy shades in one block
Use Ink and Body Text for text	Use pure black #000000 for text
Use Metal Grey for quiet details	Use grey for headlines or buttons
Keep green for WhatsApp only	Add blue, orange or green as brand colours
Copy the HEX codes exactly	Pick a "similar" colour by eye
Check print colours with a proof	Assume screen and print look the same
